

Solution :

Initially elements are pushed into the stack by popping them from queue. Later after popping them from the stack, they are enqueued to the queue. So finally the elements are kept in the reversed order in the queue.